

LCP is a chaise lounge made of a single piece of transparent methacrylate which spirals around itself to create a radically innovative chaise lounge design. Only an exclusive technology has led to such flexibility, preserving the object's formal purity. LCP is elastic, soft and resistant, even if it gives an impalpable and evanescent image. It comes in four transparent colours: crystal, yellow, light blue and pink. It is an important and sophisticated chair, for more attentive design connoisseurs.
