

This is first sofa which provides "infinite solutions", it is easy to disassemble and is manufactured using industrial technology. It consists in identical modules made from transparent polycarbonate, which provide endless and repeatable solutions that connect to form the rigid base structure for the sofa: the backrest, seat – made from plastic laths and arm rests. This is consequently a highly customisable sofa, which can vary in length to adapt to all personal requirements; it is indestructible and able to stand up to heavy-duty wear and tear. It is fitted with large soft goose-down padded cushions which cover the structure to guarantee total comfort and a most invitingly snug contour. The upholstery is a most original feature: coloured and patterned fabrics, denim (Indian Rose) and animalier materials (exclusive Dolce&Gabbana design), give this sofa a variety of personalities whilst maintaining its clear-cut project identity. It is a transversal product which is ideal for furnishing offices, public and private facilities, airports etc.
